

From the Archives – November 2024

We are now into November, with the crisp mornings and frosty air. At the cusp of Winter, yet it still Fall. This is the time of year where I like to look at pictures from the warmer days of Summer. Here is a picture from a summer Flower Show on August 15, 1987. There are several beautiful flowers displayed, but I was drawn to the hand-painted sign in the middle of the image. It was a truly talented person who created this piece. I was wondering if anyone in the current membership knows who painted it? Let me know if you do. See you in next month's edition.
