

From the Archives – November Edition

Welcome to the cold, crisp days of later Fall. All the gardens are now asleep for the season, waiting again for the Spring. This month, instead of featuring a photo, I share with you an article that was printed in the Orangeville Banner on July 27, 2001. This letter to the editor was written by the Vice President, Diana Meades. I hope you enjoy reading this snippet from our past. Stay tuned for next month's article from our past.

Take time to stop and smell roses

DEAR EDITOR:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the citizens of Orangeville for their part in the care of the public plantings in and around our town.

These flower beds have been planted and are maintained by members of The Orangeville and District Horticultural Society, and they add colour and beauty to our parks and buildings.

It is nice to know, that after the many hours of volunteer work that is put into the flower beds, that all who pass by admiring them are also keeping a watchful eye to ensure that they are not destroyed.

I have met many wonderful people while working on the bed in Kay Cee Gardens and I know that the citizens of Orangeville appreciate the work involved.

Last, but not least, I would like to publicly thank the neighbours next to Kay Cee Gardens for generously allowing me to use their hose to water my garden. I hope you can all take a moment out of your very busy lives to "Stop and Smell The Roses".
